A weak stomach means weak stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the heart and kidneys. It's a pity that sick ones continue to drug the stomach or stimulate the heart and kidneys. The weak nerves, not the organs themselves need this help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative has, and is promptly helping so many sick ones. It goes directly to the cause of these diseases, rest this vital truth, and see. Sold by the Louisa Drug Co., Louisa, Ky.

Home Circle Column.

A Column Dedicated To Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle.

MATRIMONIAL ALLIANCES.

The lack of good sense and judgment of many fathers and mothers displayed in the regard to matrimonial alliances of their children, amounts in very many instances, to rank idiocy. If they wish to "break off a love affair," they employ the very agent for its intensest promotion—opposition.

Infatuation, so often mistaken by young people for love, is a feeble-rooted plant, that will die of itself in time, if only let alone. Parental interference, of a dogmatic kind, will very probably drive its roots to a firm depth in the soil of affection.

It is unquestionably one of the severest trials between the beginning and end of life to rear a child with great care, and then, at manhood or womanhood, behold the labor worse than lost, as it seems to the parents. It seems bitterly ungrateful. A terrible blindness seems to have fallen like a pall upon their child's mental and spiritual vision.

Our attention has been drawn to this topic by a number of social revelations, not pleasant to hear, and which had their origin in parental opposition. Private marriages are resorted to; scandalous arrangements entered upon; and often what is still more sad and deplorable, the lives of brave and high-hearted lovers shadowed for life.

After the age of twenty-one, girls who have been properly educated, are quite as apt to know what they desire in a man for a husband, as their parents, and unreasonable opposition is as foolish as it is unkind. When the spirit of opposition leaps high in parental hearts, it would be well to ask these questions: Would marriage be the worst thing that could happen? Is my opposition fostering the best results? Is it my ambition or my child's happiness that I am seeking to promote? Has not my child the same right of a choice in a life companion that I had?

Another thing occurs at this point, that we cannot well refrain from protesting against. It is the folly—and nothing less than folly—that characterizes the conduct of far too many parents in regard to their children and especially their daughters, who, in some weak moment, have behaved indiscreetly, and possibly shamefully. A child is a child, and no act of a parent can make it otherwise. Disinclination, anger, unkindness and abuse only aggravate such matters, and what might have been kept a private family sorrow, becomes a public scandal, so crushing the helpless victim that not even a whole life-time of remorse and repentance can succeed in washing out the blot on her reputation. Life is so short—human happiness at best, so poor and unreliable—there is nothing to be gained by making a bad matter worse, or a miserable fellow creature still more wretched. Are truth and virtue so evil and weak as to be utterly destroyed by the breath of a pitiful error? Must Christ be again crucified to teach us the beauty of charity and forgiveness?

HOW TO JUDGE BOOKS.

Would you know whether the tendency of a book is good or evil, examine what state of mind you are in when you lay it down. Has it induced you to suspect that what you have been accustomed to think unlawful may, after all, be innocent, and that may be harmless which you have hitherto been taught to think dangerous? Has it tended to make you dissatisfied under the control of others; and disposed you to relax in that self-governed agent, without which both the laws of God and man tell us there can be no virtue, and consequently no happiness. Has it attempted to abate your admiration and reverence for what is good and great, and to diminish in you the love of your country and your fellow beings? Has it addressed itself to your vanity, your selfishness, or any other of your evil propensities. Has it defied the imagination with what is loathsome, or choked the heart with what is monstrous? Has it dimmed the sense of right and wrong, which the Creator has implanted in the human soul? If so—If you are conscious of all or any of these effects—or if, having cleared from all, you have felt that such were the effects it was intended to produce, throw the book into the fire, whatever name it may be on the title page! Throw it into the fire young man, though it may be the gift of friend, young lady, away with the whole lot, though it should be the prominent furniture of a rosewood bookcase. There never was such a rage for book reading as at the present time. It is a commendable habit, only one cannot be too careful in the selection of books.
